Holden Vintage & Classic was founded in 1988 as an auto electrical parts specialist for classic British cars, supplying lamps, switches, gauges, control boxes, ignition parts, starters and more. The company purchased original diagrams, tooling and machinery from Lucas and other OEMs to manufacture and supply authentic replacement parts and accessories for a wide range of classic marques including Aston Martin, MG, Austin Healey, Triumph, Mini and Jaguar.

In 2021, the company was purchased by SNG Barratt Group, the world’s largest independent manufacturer and supplier of classic and modern Jaguar car parts. The acquisition brought more parts to more customers all over the world including the introduction of new exhaust
